Student Senate

Discusses Legality Of Day Student Elections

President Mary Jane Hunt called the January 27 meeting of the Student Senate to order. She then asked the five newly- seated Day Student Senators to stand and introduce themselves. They are Doenie Maxwell, Brian Simpson, Lillian Maples, Dell Gore, and Judy Jordan.

She announced a contest of which over seventy English department had ad

In the House of Representatives, a bill named "Miss Williams, to give" has been introduced. The bill is currently pending in the House Committee on Education. It is sponsored by Representative Smith and co-sponsored by Representative Brown. The bill would amend the current law to allow for the creation of a new category of student, the "day student," which would be eligible for certain scholarships and grants. The bill has been referred to the Committee on Education for further consideration.

Six Students Attend Faculty Meeting

As a result of the petition circulated on campus last week, six students were allowed to enter and observe the faculty meeting Thursday night at 8:00 in Russell Hall. Approximately fifty students and Deans William L. Lilleston and William S. Lillieston met on the back stage of Chappell shortly after 7:00 to elect their six representatives. There were twelve nominations and six elected to enter were Rachel Baber, David Payne, R. W. Williams, Carol Gay, Gordon Fleming, and Jean Nudel.

The motion was made to the faculty by Deans Lilleston to allow the six students to enter, and was passed with some degree of dissent. Earl Proctor, President of CGA, Mary Jane Hunt, V.P. for Student Affairs, and Lew Walton, Attorney-General, had already been granted permission to attend the meeting.

Fuller read some of the amendments proposed by the local Day Students Association of University Professors. The committees discussed were: Faculty Council on Student Relations, the Faculty Council, the Faculty Council of Athletics, and the Admission Council for Undergraduates. An amendment was proposed during the discussion of each to increase the number of students on the committees to correspond to the number of seats in the Student Senate (one per committee). The motion was favored in the increase of all cases but one, that being the Faculty Council.

The motion was made by Dr. Fuller to adopt the Faculty Council on Student Relations, to create the Council of Student Affairs, as a faculty advisory group to the CGA.

The Faculty Council for Undergraduates, as a faculty advisory group to the CGA, was designated by the Student Senate. Mr. Timothy Lightstone makes a motion to amend the motion by changing the number of students on the committee to reflect the number of student representatives. The motion was carried and the committee was formed.

Next on the agenda was the discussion of the Faculty Council. Dr. Fuller moved to adopt the committee composed of the Director of Graduate Studies, the faculty member from each area offering a graduate degree, and one faculty member from each area offering undergraduate degrees.

The classes will be held on weekdays, and will be designed to accommodate the schedules of working students. The classes will cover a wide range of topics, including humanities, sciences, and social sciences.

The classes will be taught by experienced instructors, and will be held in the college's facilities. The classes will be offered at a reasonable cost, and will be open to all students who meet the requirements.

GC News Flash

Georgia College at Milledgeville is proud to announce that the College has been awarded a grant from the National Science Foundation to support the development of new courses in the fields of mathematics and computer science.

The grant, which is one of the largest ever awarded to a college in the state, will allow the College to develop new courses in these fields and to hire new faculty members.

The College has already begun the process of developing new courses, and is currently seeking proposals from faculty members who are interested in teaching these courses.

The grant will be administered by the College's Department of Mathematics and Computer Science, and will be used to support the development of new courses and the hiring of new faculty members.

The College is also seeking proposals from faculty members who are interested in teaching these courses, and will consider all proposals on a competitive basis.

"Intermission" Now Showing At Academy Theatre

The Academy Theatre's second new play of this season, "INTERMISSION," talks about the current economic downturn and the danger of debt. The play is being produced by the Academy Theatre Company and directed by Charles Edwards.

"INTERMISSION" is a story about a man who is drowning in debt and is trying to keep his family together. He takes on a job as a financial advisor to try to save his family, but ends up getting into even more debt. The play is a realistic portrayal of the current economic crisis and the struggles that many families are facing.

The cast includes: John Smith as the main character, Mr. Johnson as his wife, and Ms. Brown as his daughter. The play is performed at the Academy Theatre on Saturdays and Sundays at 7:30 PM. Tickets are available online or at the box office.

The Academy Theatre is located at 123 Main Street, in the heart of downtown.

"Theatre is the mirror of life, reflecting the reality of our world," Edwards said. ""INTERMISSION" is a powerful reminder of the importance of financial responsibility and the consequences of neglecting our financial obligations."
