Nitty Grirty Dirt Band Plays At Ga. College

By Bill Ferrell

The world famous recording group, the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, performed for the students of Georgia College last Friday, April 14, at the Historic High Auditorium. The Band put on a fantastic show, expertly playing and singing some fine country and rock music. Especially done well were a couple of old Hank Williams numbers. The cajun and bluegrass songs were also well done.

GC Offers Recreation Major

A Bachelor's degree in recreation at the undergraduate level will be available at Georgia College beginning next fall, according to Dr. J. Whitney Bunting, GC President. Dr. Bunting said approval for the degree in the major has been given by the Board of Regents.

To prepare individuals to function as leaders in various recreation settings, the program will be interdisciplinary. Recreation students will take courses in such areas as arts and crafts, psychology, recreation, sociology and speech, according to Dr. Betty Poindexter, professor of Physical Education and Recreation (PERE) at Georgia College.

In addition, Dr. Poindexter pointed out that the Milledgeville area is ideal for recreation majors as the students will be able to intern at Central State Hospital, the Youth Development Center, and the Baldwin County Recreation program. Of course, she added, students will be able to intern at any approved recreation setting in the United States.

In developing this program, Georgia College is extending another service to the people of Georgia by offering students an opportunity to learn to help others," Dr. Poindexter commented.

"In this day of increased leisure time and individual development, leaders are needed to guide and direct numbers of the community in the wise use of this time."

Change Name Poll Flops

By Bill Ferrell

The poll in the first issue of the COLONADE this quarter to see if a majority of students wanted to change the name of the campus newspaper was anything but a success. Only a handful of students filled out the ballots and returned them to the poll headquarters, thereby giving the poll, at least in practice, a majority of those who did not want to change the name.

I'm going to turn this campus around.

 Barefoot Criminals

By Bill Ferrell

I can see some merit in the arguments of those few students who have been railing recently about the "barefoot criminals" of campus crime. A campus crime wave such as the one we have had recently is, I think, a compliment to those few who are really doing their part to protect the campus.

Barefoot Criminals

By Bill Ferrell

Last Friday, April 14, I was confronted with a rather ridiculous scene that I have never seen before in the course of my campus life. Students were running from the dining room and the Establishing Committee for a couple of luncheon meetings of the American Philosophers Club. The students, I was told, had been "marching" on the campus in an attempt to "march" the students to the "true seat of government," the Office of the President.

Dear Editor,

While writing on campus recently I couldn't help but notice the terrible chaos going on all around me. Suddenly, I thought back to what Mr. Wallace had said and decided I had better jump on his bandwagon before things got worse.

Sincerely yours,

Doris Van Norden
