Student Receives N.E.S. Scholarship

A 19-year-old sophomore at Georgia College, Lee Roy Lane of Milledgeville, has been awarded a $500 News Election Service scholarship by the Georgia Orphans Association.

Judge Calvin Simpson, Baldwin County ordinary and president of the state association, made the presentation to Lane in the presence of two men bearing the name Taylor—Dr. Orellia W. Taylor, chairman of the department of history and political science at GC, and Charles S. Taylor, Jr., manager of the News Election Service of Georgia. Lane is a political science major and is working his way through college. The News Election Service is an organization formed by The Associated Press, United Press International, NBC, CBS and ABC to collect and tabulate the General Election vote. N.E.S. gives the scholarship to the orphans association for helping to collect the vote in each general election.

The winner of the scholarship is chosen by a committee of the association. To be eligible, a student must be majoring in either political science or journalism and must need financial help to complete his education.

Sports Awareness At Georgia College

In this past and even now in the present it appears that adopted support and participation has been a trivial matter and a secondary activity for the majority of Ga-College students. Support for athletic teams simply does not exist in the form of mass participation. Reasons for the support are nonexistent but for the most part are readily remedial.
Examples of our great national sport could be reviewed at admit that the soccer team

The book covers a wide range of topics, including the development of the curriculum, the growth of the student body, and the role of the College in the community.

The authors have drawn upon a variety of sources, including archival records, interviews, and oral histories, to create a rich and detailed account of the College's history. They have also included many photos and diagrams to illustrate the College's physical and social development over time.
