A Weekend At Georgia College

Everyday, I hear so many people complaining about weekends at G.C. One day during the week, I will ask friends, "Are you staying here this weekend?" "No," they state, "there's nothing to do." But they are wrong. There is plenty to do at G.C. on weekends. Many people disregard the fact that activities like Homecoming dances can not be here on campus every weekend. So they go home, but when something big hits campus they are sure to stay. People like those tend cannot be satisfied with all aspects of college life. If these people will put their minds in gear, they will be surprised to find what they can do on weekends.

In general, most people stay on weekends to catch up on sleep that they lost the week. Most can not live by study and sleep alone. Below are many things that any normal G.C. student can do on campus on weekends:

- Get a group of people together and throw a party at the Pub or the Other Half.
- Get a date and go see a movie or go skating. Milledgeville has a skating rink, you know.
- Get a card game, or even a Chess game going in the SU.
- Go to the SU and play ping pong or pool.
- Grab an alarm or a tape and go run in the music listening room in the SU.
- Get out and jog around the campus. Georgia College needs this activity badly.
- Go to the hobby room in the SU and create a hobby.
- Go play tennis at the courts. You can play at night.
- Go to the pool and take a dip. Just don't drown.
- For the last resort, watch television.
- On Sunday, try to go to church. It won't hurt.

People should not complain about nothing to do on weekends. If you put your mind together, you will be able to think of something to do this list of weekend activities.

Profile Of Freshman In Nursing Education

A 16 year old grandmother with seven grandchildren.
A 19 year old divorcee with one child.
A 26 year old black male who is already a licensed practical nurse.

These are a few of the 14 new freshmen who enrolled in the nursing program at Georgia College.

These are also among the students who have helped to double the number of freshmen enrolled in the nursing education program over the number who entered last fall, according to Catherine Summerville, program director.

In a profile of the freshmen who have enrolled in the program, figures reveal that this year there are 33 in number as compared to 21 last year. Significantly, the present class includes 20 white students and 13 black, ranging in age from 17 to 25. Forty-nine are females and four are males. Eighteen are single, four are divorced and thirty-one freshmen are single, according to the profile.

Of the new freshmen, 16 commute to the campus daily from as far away as Macon, Sandersville, Gordon, Madison, Spalding, and Tifton. Seventeen live in college dormitories.

According to the report submitted to the dean by Miss Summerville, state and federal scholarships and loans provide the financial means necessary for the enrollment of students with vocational rehabilitation, social security, and Veterans Administration payments providing the wherewithal for others.

Seven students are working while they attend school. Of the 13 new freshmen, eight have been hospital attendants, seven have been hospital aides, and six have been practical nurses. Two came into the program after becoming interested in nursing as a career while they were Caddy Strippers or Pink Ladies.

Twenty-eight of the members of the class plan to continue only until they receive their associate degree, 16 plan to go on for their baccalaureate degree, two plan on staying in college until they get their nurses degree in nursing, and two others plan to go into the nurse-anesthetist program.

According to Miss Summerville, most of those who entered the program this fall did not come from high school as a vantage point, and many of the students are consumers with family responsibilities. Eight were in the G.C.Developmental program and were able to build up their grade point average enough to qualify for admission to the nursing education program.

Three Recent Appointments To GC Faculty

A New Mexican with a doctorate in special education, guidance, and counseling is one of three new faculty members appointed recently to the Georgia College Department of education, according to an announcement made by Dr. J. Willliam Bunting, college president.

Named as associate professor in the department was Dr. Donald E. Joyce, who earned his doctoral at the University of New Mexico after earning his other degrees at Eastern New Mexico University.

Dr. Joyce taught at the secondary school level at Clovis, N.M. and Baldwin Park, Calif. and at Northeast Louisiana University before coming to G.C. Named an assistant professor was Dr. Floyd V. Satter, who received his doctorate at the University of Georgia this past summer. Dr. Satter, who taught at White Hall and Springfield High School, received his B.D. degree in education at Henderson State College in Arkansas and his M.Ed. degree from Georgia.

Elaine C. Wiggan, a former teacher at Baldwin High School and the Youth Development Center in Milledgeville, has been named an instructor in the education department. She received her two degrees at G.C.

Letters to the Editor

Slipper

Slipper One small word with a mystical definition is found at the end of every G.C. student. Good or bad, Slipper is powerful. slipper is the head of society and the person who is in charge of the Slipper organization. Having recently participated in Slipper, I found that the Slipper organization is an excellent means of learning about leadership and responsibility. In my opinion, Slipper should be considered an important part of the student body. The Slipper organization is an excellent means of learning about leadership and responsibility.

Idiocy Or Reality

People have come up to me and asked why the paper has contained material that is seemingly irrelevant and uninteresting. They were, of course, referring to the cartoons and various negative and uninteresting jokes in the past issues of the COLONNADE. Well, they had their purposes. We get Letters, don't we? And we get a paper? Anyway, it was fun. (I think.) I hope the next editor has as much fun as I did.

Letter No. 3

A letter to the Editor.

Now that Slipper has come to an end, I would like to say what small part I was in the Slipper organization. It was an honor to be a part of this prestigious group of students. I believe that Slipper is an important part of G.C., and I hope that it continues to be a part of the future of our institution.

Deam will be a definite problem, according to first year coach Roy Robinson, who is trying not to miss too many players from last year’s team who helped Ga. College post a 13-8 record and then graduated Coach Robinson feels that the team should be a strong one and one capable of winning season even though a tougher conference schedule is faced. He feels the team is lacking height but believes this inefficiency will be overcome by the team’s spirit and aggressiveness.

Robinson came to Ga. College last spring after posting an outstanding overall record of 197-76 at Appling High School, and Central High School in Macon over the past ten years. Robinson himself is a graduate of Fort Valley State where he captained the cage squad for three years and tallied 1,390 points in competition over a four-year period for an average of 24 points per game. Helping Coach Robinson with this year’s team is assistant Coach Allen McNamara, who graduated from Springfield College in Mass.

In his rebuilding year at Ga. College, Robinson is fortunate in having a number of players who can make G.C. forget the departed. Returning lettermen include Marvil Morris of Centon, Willie Greer of Milbridgeville, and well improved Larry Anderson of Jeffersonville. Robinson’s top recruits are Bank Waters of Fort Leadersdale, Fia. Bill Lawry of Macon, Joe Leo Norman of Moultrie and Jim Edwards of Milbridgeville. Other team members include Merril Smith of Tennessee, Ronald Pricen of Cedarview, Ken Harper of East Acaoe, Charlie Strum of Columbus, Roger Walker of Augusta, and Blake Anderson and Harold Johnson, both of Milbridgeville.

Highlights of the 26-game season will include a game with Mass. Institute of Technology at Macon Coliseum on Jan. 11, and a three day road trip in Feb. to meet Palm Beach Atlantic College in West Palm Beach, Florida Technological University in Orlando, and Ga. Southwestern College at America.

LITERARY SECTION

For everything there is a season, and a time for every matter under heaven:

- a time to be born, and a time to die,
- a time to plant, and a time to pluck up what is planted,
- a time to kill, and a time to heal;
- a time to break down, and a time to build up;
- a time to weep, and a time to laugh;
- a time to mourn, and a time to dance;
- a time to cast away stones,
- a time to gather stones together;
- a time to embrace,
- a time to refrain from embracing;
- a time to seek, and a time to lose,
- a time to keep, and a time to cast away;
- a time to rend, and a time to sew;
- a time to keep silence, and a time to speak;
- a time to love, and a time to hate;
- a time for war, and a time for peace.

kiss the sun
feel its warmth
on your heart
in your eyes
it blocks out the stars
we get too close
to one another
too close to feel the warmth
from things besides ourselves human touch my heart through the light of the day
mold a good feeling
from our minds of clay
you see
we can touch through feelings
with simple warmth
now kiss me
