Maxwell Sunken Sidewalk, Wil You Be Next

Tragedy strikes at GC when one more victim is swallowed in the sinister sidewalk while attempting to sneak to class. In it is true that the Luch Munster has come to reside at GC? Milledgeville may not after the elusive, mysterious quality afforded by the nature of Jackland, but legs holes are plentiful and there is at least one ledge. How else can one explain the mysterious disappearance of numerous students along the once-visible sidewalk which runs parallel to the Maxwell College Union building? Rumors continue to come in at this office concerning not only disappearant of students but also increase reported by those who emerge coated with slime and stygian grime having somehow defied the strange being that lurks somewhere in the crannies of those murky walls. Who knows who will be next? Will others perish? We have left the rumor out of this article to protect the innocent, but in the immortal words of Walter Cronkite, "You may be there" next. Protect your life by supporting local legislation concerning the death defying problem.

"The prevailing was a paid" political article by police and relatives of those lost somewhere near the sidewalk, next to question while pursuing the endeavors of life, education, and College Union activities.

Rumor has it that Maxwell will be open after 7:00 some day soon.

Keith Jones Wins CGA Election

In the February 21, 1973, CGA elections, Napier Senator Keith Jones obtained a large victory over his opponent, Joe Williams. Jones polled 497 votes to Williams' 36. "I intend to continue to work on the programs I've established for myself. I intend to continue to work on the programs I've established for myself. I intend to continue to work on the programs I've established for myself. I intend to continue to work on the programs I've established for myself."

Tim Walker, running unopposed, became the new CGA Vice-President, and Amoreta McLeod, also running unopposed, is the new Secretary. There will be a runoff election between Barry Bruner and Roy Lane for CGA Treasurer. Jim Davis (unopposed) is the male Co-Chairman of Honor Council. No one ran for Female Co-Chairman. Pat B. Rooker (unopposed) obtained editorially. The new representatives will begin their duties this Spring Quarter.

Since neither of the candidates for the Colosseum (Mary Robbins and Walter Young) qualified, there will be a special election some time next week.

Watch Thy Parking

All vehicles that are parked illegally adjacent to yellow curbs, crookedly, stop, driveway, fire plagues, etc., on city streets are subject to a $10.00 fine imposed by the city of Milledgeville, and Georgia College can assume no responsibility.

According to a notice received February 13, 1973, from the chairman of the Milledgeville Police Commission such illegally parked vehicles will also be subject to being towed away at the owner's expense. This becomes effective March 1, 1973. In the interest of public safety, public relations, and our financial concerns, students are urged to be more cognizant of this problem.

Dean Simpson Speaks

Dean Simpson announces plans last week for another "Deafening" effort in the theater marketing major which combines the efforts of the Home Economics and Business Departments. This latest venture will include the Business Department and the Institute of Rural Life for the better environment. Through these combined efforts, Dean Simpson hopes to bring the departments within Georgia College closer together.

The academic dean also expressed the hope that sometime in the future massive developmental changes could be made. The English and Speech Department could be merged with Core requirements in the Art and Music Departments to form a unified Humanities Department. Similar procedures could be made in other departments in order to bring the departments closer and to eliminate some of the confusion made by having so many different departments.

Simpson also announced that there will be much more cooperation with Central State Hospital in the near future. Simpson feels that CSH is a great resource available to students at Georgia College and could be a fine educational asset.

Student life at Georgia College was also a topic of interest to Dean Simpson. It is opposed to alcohol on campus and feels that it could prove to be a problem to the "alcohol, community, and security."

Campus parking was another target of concern. Although Dean Simpson offers no suggestions, he identifies the parking problem on campus and at Napper Dorm and has trouble himself finding a place to park, especially during concerts.

When asked if he had any solutions to offer about student apathy which seems to be running rampant on the GC campus, he had no answer, but did laugh bitterly at the suggestion that student apathy was an administrator's dream.
Perhaps a list of careers a career that might seem more appealing to them, or a list of careers they find more appealing to them, or a list of careers they feel more comfortable with. The goal is to give them something to think about. It's important to note that not all careers will be right for everyone. Some people might find a career that isn't right for them, but others might find one that is. It's important to encourage them to think about what they want to do and to give them the tools they need to make an informed decision.

Simmons Says Sew

Danny Simmson would enjoy the course in clothing construction at Georgia College if he didn't have to show up next Monday morning. He is a senior at the University of Southern Maine, but visits his native town of Griffin every weekend. On his last visit he was to receive an award at the University of Southern Maine, which he would have done if he had actually been there. However, he was caught in a snowstorm and had to return home.

The course in clothing construction at Georgia College is taught by Mrs. Mary M. Thomas, who has been teaching for over 20 years. She is a native of Griffin and has been teaching there since 1963. She has had many students who have gone on to successful careers in the fashion industry. Mrs. Thomas is a member of the Georgia College faculty and is a respected figure in the field of clothing construction.

Corfu and sidewalk, I wandered alone through the meadows of Sivota. Where? No one knows. In this way. Many times I have ventured forth with my curiosity to find a wild, only to return home with hope of searching something else. I heard a world full of young and beautiful flowers in this field. Many spoke of love, but not forever; but not our own. I searched for a flower unopened and then I found it. Now I'm torn and scattered butnly about it. If only I could have been there when it was young, in my garden I yearly comfort it on this knoll. I cannot hear this sound like the sound of my memory when and from body with this kind. I have only a few, but it is the only flower. I could hear the sound of the breeze and that's where it's at. Now I know the sound and we will grow together in every way.

Happy Birthday
Remember the birthday party you had when you were young? Your mother made you a cake because you left next door. You didn't eat it, but it was the best food you had until you were at least 15. Your friends played out in the back and you shouted as loud as you could. Then it rained and you tried to figure out what to do. Remember the birthday party you had when you were a baby? Your parents played soft music and you fell asleep. You woke up and saw your parents with big smiles on their faces. Remember the birthday party you had when you were older? You went to a club and danced with your friends. You never slept. Remember the birthday party you had when you were a teenager? You went to a party and drank too much. You woke up the next day and realized you had been acting like an idiot. You wished you could do it again. You never drank again.

Book Review
Deliverance
The novel Deliverance is about a group of business executives who travel to a remote Georgia forest to escape the stresses of their lives. But when one of their number dies in the wilderness, the group must band together to survive. The novel is a classic of modern literature and a must-read for anyone interested in adventure and survival.

Academy Awards

The Best Picture award at the 1972 Academy Awards was won by the film "Deliverance," which was directed by John Schlesinger. The film was about a group of men who go on a hunting trip into the southern United States and become stranded in the wilderness. The film was praised for its powerful performances and for its portrayal of the dangers of being lost in the wilderness.

The content of the "Deliverance" novel was controversial, and it was banned in several countries due to its depiction of violence and drug use. The film was also praised for its cinematography and for its depiction of the natural beauty of the American South.
What kind of fool would invest in a business that:
Is without profit?
Has impossible hours?
Is involved in one disaster after another?
That even asks for blood?
We hope you’re that kind of fool.
