Lyceum Offerings

Lectures on the problems inherent in overpopulation, poor nutrition, and limited food supply in the national economy will be announced shortly by the Georgia College Lyceum Series during its winter sessions at the Milligeorgia Institute of Higher Learning. Also to be offered will be concerts by the Morehouse College Glee Club and the 23rd Wodenwood Quartet of Louisiana State University.

A selection of programs is open to the public without charge.

A lecture entitle "The Environmental Crisis Is It Real?" by Dr. Wayne B. Davis, a human ecologist at Stanford University, will be held in the auditorium Sunday, October 11.

Dr. Davis stressed national attention regarding malnutrition that there will be fewer people in the world in 2,000 than there are today and that this nation has emphasized the importance of food production.

An article in the New Republic, released directly from a number of national news sources and his theories have been the subject of editorials and columns in the Telegraph, Atlanta Journal, the San Francisco Chronicle, and the New York Times.

The Wodenwood Quartet will be the Lyceum Committee's offering on Tuesday, November 7.

Deal Goes National

Dr. Thory N. Deal, chairman of the home economics department at Georgia College, has been elected to the Southern Regional Governing Board of the National Association of Education of Young Children.

The Association acts on behalf of the needs and rights of young children, with its primary focus on the provision of educational services and resources. In implementing this goal, the Washington-based agency tries to increase the competence of all persons working with young children, develop "position statements" on issues or critical needs, and assist individuals and groups to become more effective in influencing and implementing legislation related to the total well-being of children.

This Association is also working on an information about pending Federal legislation and interprets issues and alternatives involved, among other things, a position paper on group care for every child the very best beginning in life.

Dr. Deal has served as state president of the Georgia Association on Young Children and is an honorary member of the Georgia Pre-School Association.

Callaway Professor

Dr. William L. Haur has been chosen by the School of Journalism to be the new Fuller E. Callaway Professor of Southern History. Dr. Haur is a well qualified teacher in his new position. His teaching career includes being an instructor and teaching West Indies and Latin American history at LSU and is at present an assistant professor at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

It is believed that this move will be in the best interest of the students at LSU.

Britt Heads New Department

Dr. John A. Britt, Jr., a member of the mathematics and physics department faculty at Georgia College since 1963, has been named a member of the new department of mathematics and physics and assistant professor of the department.

In his new capacity, Dr. Britt will have administrative responsibility for the Rising Junior Teaching Program at GC, special studies program, until recently under the auspices of the mathematics department, will no longer be on a compulsory year-long basis, according to the new department chairman.

He will also serve on the department's advisory committee.

With the new, broader program, a student who desires to participate can begin a curriculum of special studies for the full quarter but shift out of the program into an advanced situation the quarter after he completes his work.

Dr. Britt feels that proper guidance is an extremely important factor in getting students into the right frame and feels that the rise of mathematics is the only way to provide a basis for more activity in this field.

"I believe that students should not even attempt college, in my opinion, if they do not have a mathematics program," he said.

"College education isn't really a lot of fun, and maybe a degree isn't really all that important from an educational standpoint."
The Campout

I picture you alone, sleepless-sleeping. I picture you waking men through your yard, you look my hand, then give me a kiss. You kiss me, so-so there. I picture you awakening suddenly, then smiled.

Then I was Perhaps doing trying to scare you! You are, ——no, we're just friends.

Greetings And

Other Business

What is "Wants"? Hopefully, it will be something more than a literary page, a sense of some dry and pompous. We hope "Wants" will prove to be an innovation in the literary form for student expression and participation, a page devoted to the individual and his thoughts and feelings, expressed through poetry, essay, book reviews, other, or short stories. All student contributions are welcomed—no success or failure of the page largely depends on active student participation. Please send all contributions signed or addressed to Fred Green, Box 123.

Besides the student contributions, we hope will every week have a "Lion's" also place them in present various items literary ridicule. For example, a series of articles on the effects of the recent Supreme Court decision regarding to be printed. In addition, a best quality and very useful with the student a chance to show his work. With your interest and participation this should be too, exciting beginning for 1973 at Georgia College!

WANTED: Want Ads! Help

For those who want extra cash, there are lots of opportunities available. You could work at the college newspaper, the local radio station, or even do some freelance writing for local publications. Just be sure to ask your instructor or advisor for guidance.

THE COLONNADE

NAPIER GIVES STUDENTS A COLD WELCOME

Alphonse

The College of William and Mary is proud to announce that our fraternities have been invited to participate in the upcoming homecoming festivities. The fraternities will be showcasing their talents and efforts through a series of events, including a talent show, a dance, and a football game.

The Campout

I picture you alone, sleepless-sleeping. I picture you waking men through your yard, you look my hand, then give me a kiss. You kiss me, so-So there. I picture you awakening suddenly, then smiled.

Then I was Perhaps doing trying to scare you! You are, ——no, we're just friends.

Greetings And

Other Business

What is "Wants"? Hopefully, it will be something more than a literary page, a sense of some dry and pompous. We hope "Wants" will prove to be an innovation in the literary form for student expression and participation, a page devoted to the individual and his thoughts and feelings, expressed through poetry, essay, book reviews, other, or short stories. All student contributions are welcomed—no success or failure of the page largely depends on active student participation. Please send all contributions signed or addressed to Fred Green, Box 123.

Besides the student contributions, we hope will every week have a "Lion's" also place them in present various items literary ridicule. For example, a series of articles on the effects of the recent Supreme Court decision regarding to be printed. In addition, a best quality and very useful with the student a chance to show his work. With your interest and participation this should be too, exciting beginning for 1973 at Georgia College!

WANTED: Want Ads! Help

For those who want extra cash, there are lots of opportunities available. You could work at the college newspaper, the local radio station, or even do some freelance writing for local publications. Just be sure to ask your instructor or advisor for guidance.

THE COLONNADE

NAPIER GIVES STUDENTS A COLD WELCOME

Alphonse

The College of William and Mary is proud to announce that our fraternities have been invited to participate in the upcoming homecoming festivities. The fraternities will be showcasing their talents and efforts through a series of events, including a talent show, a dance, and a football game.

The Campout

I picture you alone, sleepless-sleeping. I picture you waking men through your yard, you look my hand, then give me a kiss. You kiss me, so-So there. I picture you awakening suddenly, then smiled.

Then I was Perhaps doing trying to scare you! You are, ——no, we're just friends.

Greetings And

Other Business

What is "Wants"? Hopefully, it will be something more than a literary page, a sense of some dry and pompous. We hope "Wants" will prove to be an innovation in the literary form for student expression and participation, a page devoted to the individual and his thoughts and feelings, expressed through poetry, essay, book reviews, other, or short stories. All student contributions are welcomed—no success or failure of the page largely depends on active student participation. Please send all contributions signed or addressed to Fred Green, Box 123.

Besides the student contributions, we hope will every week have a "Lion's" also place them in present various items literary ridicule. For example, a series of articles on the effects of the recent Supreme Court decision regarding to be printed. In addition, a best quality and very useful with the student a chance to show his work. With your interest and participation this should be too, exciting beginning for 1973 at Georgia College!

WANTED: Want Ads! Help

For those who want extra cash, there are lots of opportunities available. You could work at the college newspaper, the local radio station, or even do some freelance writing for local publications. Just be sure to ask your instructor or advisor for guidance.
Is CUP Your Cup Of Tea?

Interested in what goes on in your spare time? If you are tired who isn’t? you’ll be interested in knowing just exactly what the CUP Committee is all about.

CUP actually College Union Program is a group of students whose duties include planning, promoting and marketing any and all programs taking place in our college union.

Aside from the activities which are evident in all i.e. dances and concerts), CUP is planning tournaments in pool, ping pong, and air hockey. In addition to these tournaments, chess, arts and crafts and duplicating bridge clubs are in the process of being formed.

Anyone interested in these fields wishing to find out more information, contact Miss Donahue in Maxwell. CUP is always open to suggestions of activities planned. If interested in joining the CUP committee, leave name and box number on Miss Donahue’s door. Meetings are held monthly. CUP just might be the thing you’ve been looking for—your cup of tea.

Phi Mu Alpha Presents

"Phi Mu Alpha Presents..." will open its 1974 season, beginning September 10, sponsored by the Phi Mu Alpha chapter of Julie Andrews. The show is aired on the radio and television stations.

Intrigues

Information will begin October 4, 9 p.m., on the sports field. All women interested in Intrigues are asked to be present and ready to begin play in the first week of the season, volleyball. Teams are asked to submit their rosters. Any questions may be directed to Miss Taylor, DHEB building.

Greeks

Georgia College is now the proud possessor of three sororities. These are: Phi Mu Fraternity for Women (the first of the three), Alpha Pi Omega, and Alpha Delta Phi. However, there will be a space reserved for the Greek society of GC (including the Intrigues). Greeks are here at last, let the campus have it!

Colonnade

Colonnade Spotlights

by Fred Mohler

I had the pleasure of interviewing one of Georgia College’s foreign students, Elko Nade.

Elko finished her freshman year at Seinen Gakuen University at Fukuoka, Fukuoka is Elko’s home town and is one of the islands of Kyushu, southwest of Japan. Elko will attend one academic year at Georgia College. She is sponsored by the Georgia Rotary Foreign Student Fund.

Elko is 18 years old and majoring in English major, taking English Composition, Speech, French, and Chorus, her main interest is in cheer and she is a first soprano in the Women’s Chorus.

Elko spent a month in Washington, D.C. at the Language Center for foreign students before coming to Georgia College. Elko studied the American way of life and language with students from all over the world. Elko said of the group, “We called ourselves the United Nations.”

I asked Elko what was the main difference between Seinen Gakuen University and Georgia College. I was surprised when she told me that approximately 900 students attend Seinen Gakuen University and that the majority of students commuted to school.

I asked Elko if she has any problems at Georgia College. She remarked that she has no problems and would like one very much.

The staff of the Colonnade wishes the best of luck in the coming school year to Elko Nade.

Colonnade Spots

Colonnade Meets

At 5:30 Each Thur.

Club of Millbridge, San- dersville, and Telfair, under the Georgia Rotary Foreign Student Fund.

I asked Elko is she had any suggestions for orientation for foreign students and she told me that she felt that the biggest help would be a special advisor for foreign students.

Elko is an English major and majoring in English Composition, Speech, French and Chemistry. Her main interest is in cheer and she is a first soprano in the Women’s Chorus.

Elko spent a month in Washington, D.C. at the Language Center for foreign students before coming to Georgia College. Elko studied the American way of life and language with students from all over the world. Elko said of the group, “We called ourselves the United Nations.”

I asked Elko what was the main difference between Seinen Gakuen University and Georgia College. I was surprised when she told me that approximately 900 students attend Seinen Gakuen University and that the majority of students commuted to school.

I asked Elko if she has any problems at Georgia College. She remarked that she has no problems and would like one very much.

The staff of the Colonnade wishes the best of luck in the coming school year to Elko Nade.

Open Letter To The Student Body

To all the students of Georgia College (both new and returning):

I would like to take this opportunity to welcome all of you to Georgia College for the 1974-75 academic year. I hope that each of you will find this school year both exciting and very rewarding.

When I started to college here last year, I found that at first I was lonely and depressed. During the school year, I also found out the answer to solve my problem of loneliness. The answer was (and still is) to get involved in some of the activities around the campus. One of the activities that I chose to get involved in was the Wesley Chapel Church. I know that some of you students are turned off by the word "church", but please read on.

The Wesley Chapel Church is open to all of you students of Georgia College regardless of race, creed, or color. The church is open every day from 11 a.m. and a half hour before chapel, also on Saturday from 11 a.m. and a half hour before chapel. The church is open for any reason you need him. It is located at 211 South Clark Street right in front of Nagel Hall. Most of you'll have already walked by it because it is the red brick house with the words "Campus Chapel" written on the front.

The Campus Chapel has many programs for the students of the college. We have a worship service every Sunday morning at 11 a.m. (which gives even enough time for all of you people who like to sleep a few more hours on Sunday morning come too). The dress at the service is anything that you think it appropriate to wear. Some people come to the service in their best Sunday clothes while most of the others wear jeans or anything that is comfortable to them.

Last Friday night, you might have seen several people running around the different dorms distributing red brochures about the Wesley Chapel Church. The brochures give the plan for this fall including worship services based on the works of Flannery O’Connor, programs on Wednesdays nights and various speakers at this fall at Lake Hamilton State Park on October 1st.

I plan to make sure that an article about the Wesley Chapel Church appears in the Colonnade every week giving details of what’s happening at Wesley. Our plans for this coming week include Ed Nelson’s sermon, “What Time Is It?” and Dinner in the "Dark Seat," this Sunday at 11 a.m. at the Rock and Roll Festival with Mr. Turner Farmer of our Math Department speaking on "The Life You May Have Be Your Own," on Wednesday night at 8:30 p.m. This week is planned to be very good and everyone of you’ll have welcome to come.

The red brochures failed to recognize the fact that the Wesley Chapel Church is also open all the time for personal and fellowship. We have a place that one can pray in and we also have a color T.V. (with the black and white screen in the dorms) for personal enjoyment. Some of us go over to the church nightly to watch T.V. and all of us will be welcome to come.

Many of you students will feel very lonely and depressed this year. It’s up to you! If you are sitting in your room bored to tears and wondering what to do, why don’t you come over to the Wesley Chapel Church. You are welcome anytime.

Thanks for your time and I hope that all of you will have a good time and a very successful year at Georgia College.

Sincerely,

Dee Thresher

Vice-President

Wesley Chapel Church

NEW A FRIEND? JOIN BSU