Hall of Fame
A Colonial Hall of Fame has been established at Georgia College by the GC Drummers Club to honor outstanding seniors, according to an article by William W. Children, an instructor in the history and political science department at the college and president of the Drummers Club.

A senior in each of four categories will be honored at Homecoming ceremonies in the spring, according to Children, with a permanent emblem plaque.

The categories are academics, athletics, arts, and political and social activities.

Mr. Harley told this committee that the energy crisis has been put out by Mr. Bruce Harley and the Maintenance Department; they have formulated a 10-year plan to combat the crisis. This plan is now under careful study and if approved it will be put into effect the first of Winter Quarter.

The plan is to be numerous and involved to discuss fully; therefore this committee is listing below 15 of 30 ideas which will affect you the most.

1. All academic buildings will be closed at 6 p.m. each day except for classes that will be held in Lesson, Library, or Hardy Hall.

Energy Crisis Hits GC

There is the possibility of gas rationing in the near future, as Mr. Spencer is in conjunction with the Tennessee Center for student housing is being constructed to house students.

One other person who has made a suggestion is that we should help combat the energy crisis at GC. It is a proposal to save energy.

However, the possibility of gas rationing is in the near future, as Mr. Spencer is in conjunction with the Tennessee Center for student housing is being constructed to house students.

The project was initially started to help students find rides home for Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays, but since there is a gas shortage present this service can also be used by commuting students to farm crops.

Then, you can see that the suggestion plan is far from being the best in every country, as it is the students' turn. This committee encourages students to do their part by dropping a suggestion in one of the many boxes on campus, by using both sides of the paper, and by conserving energy in your dorm rooms and classrooms.

The dorms are a major user of energy. Many little things could be done by each individual to conserve energy. For example, when leaving a room in the morning, turn off all the lights before you leave.

You can also save energy by turning off the lights at night, as dormitories are not used at night.

Finally, your suggestions on this crisis is important.

Colonials Optimistic

The dictionary defines "optimism" as a tendency to expect the best possible outcomes or to dwell upon the most hopeful aspects of a situation. A disposition to hope for the best.
An optimist, the dictionary
continues, is one given to optimism.

And given to optimism on a basketball season approaches is Coach Ray Robinson of the Georgia College Colonials.

Despite a disappointing first year as coach of the Colonials despite the loss of four of five starters from the 1974-75 squad, Robinson is looking forward to
"better times" and an upward turn of events.

"We lost several players from last year's team graduating and to classroom problems, but we have gained players who really want to be "winners" and who are really working towards that post," Robinson said.

Four highly-rated recruits have been added to the Colonial fold since the end of last season
- Nathaniel Huddleston of Tampa, Fla., Robert Williams of St. Petersburg, Fla., Wayne Morris of Toccoa, and Alvin McDannell of Ridgeland. With a little coaching, this quartet should help.

Lavery of Macon and Merrill Morris of Canton, two of the three returning veterans, lead GC to a winning record.

On the present 11-man squad
there are four freshmen, three sophomores, and four juniors.
Lavery, Morris, and Blake Andrew of Millerdale are the only returnees.
