Georgia College Students Honored

Forty-three students at Georgia College were honored recently for their service and contributions to the college and for their accomplishments in a variety of fields.

The students were honored at an awards banquet attended by nearly 260 students, members of the faculty, parents, and friends.

Judge Joseph B. Duke of the Ocilla Judicial Circuit Superior Court was the keynote speaker at the banquet and spoke on qualities of leadership.

Five students were named to the Colonial Hall of Fame for achievement in the areas of athletics, music, and the visual arts, and in the social-political field.

The five were Linda Bradley Crawford of Waycross, Renee Jones of Atlanta, Bern Mass of Hallstead, Miss, Mark Sierker of Clinch, Ky., and Lee Roy Lane of Millidgeville.

Four special awards were made to students who exhibited leadership in promoting the college community.

Frank N. Howell, now a newspaperman for radio station WJLG in Millidgeville, was honored for his efforts in founding the new college radio station, WJLC.

Marcia Lyons of Roberta and past president of Alpha Delta Pi was cited for her service to the college community.

George W. Martin of Millidgeville and past president of Pi Kappa Alpha was honored for his leadership as a faculty member.

Vicki Hall of Blakely and the GC chapter of Phi Epsilon Omicron, a national honor society in business economics, was given an award as president of the independent organization, contributing most to service to the college community.

Robert F. Miller of Millidgeville, student director of special activities at the college; Edith Griggs of Stone Mountain, former editor of the college newspaper, the Coliseum; Cecil Simpkins of LaGrange, editor of the Spectrum, the college annual; and William Norwood of Millidgeville, secretary for student activities at the college.

Honored for leadership in college musical activities were Donald Johnson of Macon and the concert band; Donald Miller of Millidgeville and the stage band and brass choir; Lisa Garland of Ft. Stewart and the women's chorus; Berta Minz of Hattiesburg, Miss., and the mime chorus, and Sandra Ledbetter of Millidgeville and the Algonquin Singers.

For their college spirit were Lewis Simmons of Savannah, Nancy Kilgore of Riverdale, and Deborah Hill of Fort Valley, captain and co-captain of the women's basketball team.

For their leadership in college athletics were J. Barry Brown of Thomson, and Mohamed Karam of Siera Leone, West Africa, co-captains of the soccer team; Mary Hardwick of Millidgeville, co-captain of the volleyball team, Lorraine Bolls of Alpharetta, co-captain of the women's tennis and volleyball teams; Larry Anderson of Jeffersonville, Alvin Richardson of Batline, and Robert Williams of M. GC Librarians To Conduct Workshop

Two members of the library staff at Georgia College and an associate professor of art at GC will conduct a workshop on Friday May 2, for Bibb County elementary and secondary school librarians.

The workshop, scheduled for the media equipment center at GC, will be held from 9 a.m. to 1:20 p.m. Participants will be introduced to the basics of bulletin board layouts, and a tour will be given.

Later in the day, the participants will tour the Dail Dillard Library and the Learning Resources Center at the college.

On the workshop faculty will be Charles E. Black, a librarian at libraries at GC and an associate professor of education, and at the Georgia College, and J. Herbert Williams, a specialist in the public services division at the library and an assistant professor of education, and at the Georgia College.

On Monday (May 5), board will serve as chairman of a statewide meeting of media specialists in Athens from 10 a.m. until 1:20 p.m. The Specialist will be meeting to discuss new standards for school libraries as they apply to elementary and secondary libraries in Georgia.

Representatives from libraries and secondary schools will be working together to develop a plan of action for libraries in the state.

The Georgia College library is a designated site in the statewide planning program, and Mrs. Schweitzer will attend the meeting.

Mrs. Schweitzer To Appear At GC

On Monday (May 5), board will serve as chairman of a statewide meeting of media specialists in Athens from 10 a.m. until 1:20 p.m. The Specialist will be meeting to discuss new standards for school libraries as they apply to elementary and secondary libraries in Georgia.

Representatives from libraries and secondary schools will be working together to develop a plan of action for libraries in the state.

The Georgia College library is a designated site in the statewide planning program, and Mrs. Schweitzer will attend the meeting.

Mrs. Schweitzer Miller of Atlanta, daughter of the late Dr. Albert Schwieter and a humanities major, will speak at Chapel Hill on the Georgia College campus on Thursday, May 8, at 2:30 p.m.

Her speech, sponsored by the GC campus ministry, is a part of the nationalistic context of the Dr. Schweitzer's birth.

This latter theme was achieved in a variety of ways - in theology, philosophy, music, and medicine. His "reverent for life" and "spirit for Jesus" were two major affirmations of his faith in his life, according to his daughter.

Her lecture at GC is free and open to the public.

GC Grows

A total of 1,244 students are enrolled for the spring quarter at Georgia College, according to an announcement by registrar Linton Cox.

The total represents an increase of nearly 18 percent over the number of students enrolled for the spring quarter last year. Last spring there were 1,043 students registered.

Women students increased from 738 in the first quarter to 769 for the second quarter in the state of Georgia.

Mrs. Virginia Raines of Mercer University and Dr. Harvatt Whipple of GC presented a paper entitled "A Vegetative and Ecological Study Of Man-Made Islands in Richmond County, Georgia."
Pikes Do It Again

Rufus Alpaka, already maundered by a few too many Tipton Free Press College campus, was formally recognized as such by the Board of Common Councils at the Awards Banquet held at Clifton Hotel. Rufus was awarded the Outstanding Community Service Award for helping to keep the school clean.

The Board would like to sincerely thank the Common Councils for this good work.

Rep. Groover To Speak

Democrats Groover, 48, a Hattiesburg attorney and a representative in the Georgia legislature for over 10 years, will speak on "The Georgia General Assembly, 1788-1802" at the 35th Annual Meeting of the National Conference of State Legislatures.

"The Monroe Doctrine," he said, "is to me the most remarkable document in draft form in history."

Maxx Noah Scholarship

Three rising senior music majors at Georgia College from McDonough, Macon, and Houston counties have been awarded Minstrel Society Scholarships for 1975. The three scholarship winners are members of the Minstrel Society and are eligible for the scholarship because they are students in the Music Department.

"The Minstrel Society was formed in 1884 as a musical and dramatic club," said Dr. Maxx Noah. "It is the oldest student organization at Georgia College."
Behavior Modification Principles

Jerry, a veteran living at Central State Home, added 30 new words to his vocabulary of five and gave up 3-yard passes to make sense.

Fred, a heavy smoker, reduced his cigarette consumption from 30 to 5 a day.

A class of five girls learned to read 20 words on sight in a period of two or three weeks.

Wayne, because of the application of the principle of behavior modification which embodies as an assumption that changes and alterations for the better can be brought about in the reciting of mantras or actions.

In another study at the Joliet College called "Applied Behavior Modification Theory," the principle of behavior modification is applied to everything from learning new words to replacing undesirable social behavior with appropriate department or department.

Students in the course taught by Victor Helms, an assistant professor at GC, conduct their experiments in behavior modification in the classroom, in hospitals, and at home, and work with both individuals and groups who may not have known that a study is being conducted.

Students in in Helms' course that behavior can be modified in a number of ways, such as positive reinforcement, negative reinforcement, punishment, and through a technique called "a token economy."

Essentially behavior modification is the restructuring of a situation so that a younger can earn "something good," thereby maintaining or accelerating the desired behavior.

The use of a token economy as a way to change behavior involves the establishment of a system of trade where in children or adults are given tokens that can be used to purchase articles or an extra five minutes of free time in exchange for better performance or more acceptable behavior.

Children as adults who have learned inappropriate ways of coping with their problems can also learn to substitute more desirable ones, according to those who believe in behavior modification.

Central is not a step-wise process in learning, according to the behavior modification advocates, who feel that the student can modify the leader's behavior as well as the other way around. Teachers and learners participating together in objectives, rules and reinforcement techniques can make any classroom or situation better than it was before, behavior modifications say.

Helms came to GC in 1974 from West Georgia College. A graduate of Berry College and Georgia State University, he has taught also at GSU and in Cobb and Clayton Counties.

Veterans Service News

Veterans students pursuing FULL TIME programs of education are eligible for the Work Study benefits.

The Work Study Program in considered a Part-Time job. Veterans may work up to 35 hours per quarter, term, or semester, not to exceed 100 hours per fiscal year.

Rate of pay is $5.50 per hour. Payment of $265 for 50 hours of service, is made in advance. All other payments are made upon completion of such 50 hours, subsequent to the first 50 hours worked.

Applications should be submitted at the VA Regional Office in person, or by mail. Appointments are made at the VA Regional Office.

All applicants are required to complete the application as accurately as possible. Make sure to fill out the entire application. If an applicant desires to work at a school, the school must administer the assignment, and certify that the duties will be entirely VA financed. The school should complete their part of the application.

Positions are filled as they become available. Selection criteria include the following: Preference is given to veterans with disabilities rated 30 per cent or more; other criteria include need, motivation, transportation, and availability. All applicants are equally qualified, the date of the application will be used for the initial selection.

If selection for the Work Study Program at a School of Social Work, the applicant will be expected to work a minimum of 10 hours per week, and a maximum of 20 hours each time they report. If selected for the VA Hospital, on a school, the hours will be determined by the requirements of that facility. The actual work schedule will be determined by the applicant and his supervisor.

Failure to report to work without sufficient reasons, or for any violation of work schedule will result in termination of the agreement. If school enrollment is reduced below a full time level, it will also result in termination. If the Work Study Agreement is terminated, any overpayment will be withheld from the monthly education check.

Once an application is submitted, it will be placed in a pending file. If it is selected for the position, the applicant will be notified to report for an interview. Applications will be kept on file for the remainder of the current quarter only. If an applicant is not selected during this quarter and wishes to continue to receive consideration, it will be necessary to complete a new application.

Dreams I've Lost

I use the happiness of my past and how I could have made it last. I've said some things I didn't mean and now I find I've lost my dream. Because I didn't know where to quit I must admit I haven't much will. By writing for Denny and how he feels I hoped, in me, he would become real. I'm not perfect by a long way off, and it seems my habits have made me soft. I hate him the things I've done, and now my words are nothing but puns. But this advice I'll like to give to others will see and the will to live. When promises are made—keep them at heart or you'll see your dreams will depart.

All that pain will not your soul. When promises aren't kept, that's the fall. Nights on your mind will end and this you'll find is what you've brought. So Denny and I will now depart with our pain with our heart. Hear your words—for they are real. I know this here, because I really do.
