Seven Day ?? ?? Open Dorm

A committee has been appointed by CGA to revise the open dorm policy. The new policy being considered is to move from a today to a 7-day, operating under similar hours and conditions. The determining factor for a 7-day policy will be dependent on the students’ opinions and desires. The committee has been working on this for the past four weeks, and a questionnaire has been the first result of their efforts.

The first step in the process of changing the open dorm policy is having the questionnaire filled out by all the dorm students. The data from the questionnaire will then be compiled, and if it is the students’ desire, a bill will be written to take before the Senate. If the bill is passed it will go before the Faculty Council on Student Relations, after which President Bunting must sign it. The students will then vote on the new policy.

Without this first step (the questionnaire), no change to the existing open dorm policy can be made. In order to obtain your opinion the questionnaire will be placed in the lobby of each dorm on Thursday, May 13, from the hours of 11:00 AM to 2:00 PM and 4:00 PM to 7:00 PM. There will be someone at the desk to hand out the questionnaires and check off names as each person fills them out. We want all dorm students to answer the questionnaire as objectively as possible.

Because you live in the dorm, it is your privilege and duty to voice your opinion about the open dorm policy. Please do so Thursday.

Antique in Mansion

A miniature porcelain portrait of Benjamin Franklin that he, himself, described as "the most familiar of his mansions and as changeable" is part of the collection of interesting antiques at the Old Governor’s Mansion of the Georgia College campus in Milledgeville.

The miniature copy of the original painted in 1778 by Joseph Silloway is expected to remain in the mansion for the next five years. When it will be returned to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City is unknown at present.

Franklin is associated in the minds of most Americans as a Philadelphian who invented the inkpot, phrased the Pennsylvania Gazette (an early forerunner to the Saturday Evening Post), and demonstrated with a kite and a key how electricity is indeed a form of electrical energy.

But Franklin had ties with Georgia too. When it was recommended in the early days of this nation that the 13 colonies select agents to superintend their demands for redemption in England, the General Assembly of Savannah in April, 1783, appointed Franklin to represent the interests of Georgia.

The name was further associated with the state when the original building at the University of Georgia, the first state-controlled university in the U.S., was designated Franklin College.

A portrait of a painting of a man conversing with the "The Most Amazing Americans" was purchased through Georgia College Foundation funds for refurbishing the former governor’s home.

The first two lines of the Old Governor’s Mansion, a National Historic Landmark, are open to the public for conference locales Mondays through Saturdays from 1 to 3 PM and on Sundays from 2 to 5 PM. The third floor serves as a residence for the president of Georgia College and his wife.

The Mansion originally housed Georgia’s governors, from 1805 to 1848, when Milledgeville was the state capital.

Approximately 165 different students were recognized, a number of them more than once, at the Georgia College Honors Day program on Wednesday, May 7.

Two students—Frank Hill of Milledgeville and Sheila Ogle of Macon—received five awards.

Hill, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Hill, was honored for participating in the academic honors program at the college, for being named to the Phi Kappa Phi honorary fraternity and "Who’s Who at American Colleges and Universities," and for being selected as the outstanding major in both the biology and the chemistry department at the college.

Miss Ogle, the daughter of Mrs. Gladys Ogle, was recognized for participating in the academic honors program, for being named to Phi Sigma and Phi Kappa Phi, for being to the top five per cent of her class, and for being named as the outstanding major in the political science and public administration department.

Two other students—Karen Doodles of Macon and Donte Williamson of Macon—filled their names called out four times at the Honors Day ceremony.

Miss Daniels has been named the outstanding sociology major at GC, has been elected to Phi Sigma and Phi Kappa Phi, and was honored for being in the top five percent of her class.

Miss Williamson was acclaimed as the outstanding major in the home economics department, for being in the top five percent of her class, and for being named to Phi Kappa Phi and to "Who’s Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Dr. R. D. Joseph Daniels, who served as chairman of the music department at GC from 1955 to 1985, was the speaker at the Honors Day program. He was also awarded the Distinguished Service Award by the College.

Dr. Hanb was introduced by Dr. Robert Wullertstadt, the Inn Shimine’s successor in the GC music department.

Dr. J. Hanbury Bunting, president of the college, presided at the program, and assisted in the awards presentations by Dr. William C. Simpson, dean of the college, and R. Brian Cox, college registrar.

Music in The Air

"A Pleasure in the Park" will be the theme of the spring concert to be presented by the Georgia College concert and stage bands on Monday, May 11, at 7:00 PM.

The hour-long outdoor concert, in the quadrangle in front of the Inn Dillard Russell Library, will be under the direction of James Willoughby, assistant professor of music at the college.

Those attending the event will be invited to bring sandwiches and other food items and to spread a blanket on the lawn. Soft drinks will be provided by the GC Alumni Association.

The stage band will open the evening musically with "Blackboard" of Beach Fane, "I’ll Be Around," an old jazz standard, and a number of other current rock and pop favorites.

Following two selections by the GC Brass Chair, the concert band will perform "Concerto for Drum Set" featuring Bruce Clark of Macon and the "Henderson Festival March" by Clifford Williams, chairman of the music theory department at the University of Miami.

The grand finale will bring together the concert bands and the GC mixed chorus under the direction of Clyde Tipton, director of choral activities at the college, for several selections from "Sound of Music" and "South Pacific.

In case of rain, the concert will be moved to nearby Russell Auditorium.
Who’s Really Prejudiced?

In the white race really belong to all which the world a constant battle against black and white and red, I have always been from the standpoint of a race. I have always been black and white. I have always been black and white. I have always been black and white. I have always been black and white. I have always been black and white. I have always been black and white.

Why do we in the United States have a Black History Week and set a White History Month? Is it not possible to write books and articles written by the black man that are just as valuable as the books and articles written by the white man? How can we work in the same way as the black man.

There has been talk of how prejudiced whites are, but has anyone shown that maybe blacks too could be prejudiced? There are some people who have been prejudice against blacks. Why do we as Georgia College have a black student? Why do blacks feel that they must exclude us?

Dear George H.,

I know you are not the most prejudiced person on campus, but I do not know that you could work so little to make a bias against black and white. In your article you said you have a very good friend who is black, but how could you not find his article to be prejudiced against black and white. It is not every year that you are myself, in the student body, but the majority of them are not. It is because we believe that all races are under two opposing groups. Maybe it is just me but I think we are all prejudiced.

It seems to me, that, and it is so different, this article as a whole is part of the Georgia College and it is a black and white Georgia College. GA is not a college because of color, in Georgia College and in Georgia State College.

Dear Students To Give Program

Dr. Harold L. McPherson of Atlanta, director of the southern Regional Education Board, will be the speaker at a workshop on "School Board on Georgia" at Georgia College.

The workshop will be held in the Peabody Hall at noon on January 30.

Dear Child,

The Georgia Southern University student摩擦, a member of the Atlanta chapter of the National Student Association, will address the workshop.

Dear Editor,

I wonder why the COLOSSAL, which is something that you could easily be eliminated if you want not use as an excuse in their activities.

The Emperor's New Clothes

Two special students have been added to the roster of "The Emperor's New Clothes" to be presented at Georgia College this May. The first student to be added is a student at Atlanta University. The second student to be added is a student at Georgia College.

Dear Andy St. John,

If all the strips of offensive tape used during the past ten years in classrooms would be put together, there would be six miles of tape.

Andy has also played as an offensive line and linebacker, in addition to being a senior in the college. Andy is a member of the football team and the track team.

Dear Andy,

During his "great medical career", the football player, a member of the track team, was treated for a broken hand. Everything from his blast to a fractured arm.

Volunteers Needed

Volunteers needed. All volunteers must be residents of Central Georgia Regional Park. Volunteers who are members of small groups usually work on outdoor activities. The Hale County Rotary Club is looking for volunteers to help with yard work.

Garden Gifts: Help us select unique, unusual gift ideas for the garden. We are looking for gift ideas that can be used in the garden and for outdoor activities.

Vacation Volunteers: Need help to work with groups and to provide additional weekend activities. We need volunteers to help with outdoor and indoor activities.

Interests: Portion acceptance and participation in the garden. Interests in flowers, vegetables, wildlife, or gardening.

Application: All volunteers must fill out an application. Additional information on the garden and the gardeners will be provided. All volunteers must attend a meeting to discuss the garden and the gardeners.
Symphony Performs "Mass"

Atlantic Symphony Orchestra Music Director and Conductor Robert Schull will lead the orchestra and numerous other participants in a production of Leonard Bernstein's monumental "Mass." There will be eight performances, June 3, 7, 10, 11, 13, 14, and 15, all starting at 8:30 p.m. in Symphony Hall.

The "Mass" is described as "a Theatre Piece for Singers, Players, and Dancers." It was commissioned by Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis for the opening of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in 1971. The "Mass" takes the Roman mass as a point of departure but incorporates aspects of the Hebrew service in a celebration of life and faith that surpasses any religious boundaries.

Bernstein and Stephen Schwartz wrote the English text of the "Mass." The score requires the cooperation of a number of diverse artistic elements, including professional dancers, a boys' choir, a rock band, a mass choir, and a marching band.

The Atlanta performances will mark the southern premiere of the Bernstein "Mass." Further details will be announced as they become available.

There Will Be A Picture Sale May 13, 1975 From 3 PM To 5 PM. The Pictures Will Be 20", 35", Or 50" The Sale Will Be In The Colonnade Office, Room 135 In The SU.

Congratulations

Editor

Richard Mauveille of Monticello, a junior majoring in biology and medical technology at Georgia College, is the new editor of the college weekly newspaper, the Colonnade.

The Son of Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Mauveille, Richard is a graduate of Piedmont Academy where he served on the staff of the school annual, the Retrospect, for three years.

Earlier this year he received the Georgia Young College Journalist Award and was 12th in ranking for the National Young College Journalist Award.

At GC, he is secretary of the Theta Gamma chapter of Phi Kappa Alpha Fraternity and was a recent intern for inclusion in the 1975 edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

In addition to carrying a full schedule of studies and serving as editor of the Colonnade, Richard also works at Central State Hospital to earn money for college.

"Based on 1974-count survey." SPH's new economy report.

MOVE OVER, ROLLS-ROYCE. LA GRANDE BUG IS HERE.

La Grande Bug, a limited edition luxury Volkswagen, offers new streets of gorgeous motoring.

The La Grande Bug is replete with appointments that cater to your every comfort and convenience. Inside, you'll find plush conductivity and leatherette trim seating.

You'll love the 15" carpeting, and enjoy the view at the top through a sliding sunroof.

Outside, you'll impress the world with silver-colored custom wheels, and a choice of 3 metallic paint.

Perhaps, most impressive of all, you'll enjoy a luxury feature most luxury cars can't even offer. 23 miles to the gallon on the highway, and 25 miles to the gallon in the city.

We cordially invite you to inspect La Grande Bug at your convenience. We think you'll be pleasantly surprised to learn how little it costs to have arrived.

A LIMITED EDITION LUXURY VOLKSWAGEN

VOLKSWAGEN CENTRAL INC.

2401 N. Columbia Milledgeville, Ga.

Phone: 452-3558

STAFF BOX

Editor

Ricky Mauveille

Associate Editor

Fred Maloney

Sports Editor

Neil Harris

Photographers: Lee Decker, Larry Hazard, Glen Grossman

Staff: Gary Smith, Kathy Thomas, Patty Holt, Kathy Shepherd, Sue Last Griggs, Gwen Hambrecht, Kathy Landcad, Kay Storey, "Wolf"